THE ART OF MESSY MASKS

CITY FIRST

Students of the Faculty of Architecture and Planning, Abdul Kalam Technical University (FOAKTU), expressed their expression by making masks related to different cultures on paper messy medium on Tuesday.

The workshop taught the techniques of making paper messy masks which the students described as a very simple and easy medium of expression. Around 80 children made paper messy masks under the direction of art experts Girish Pandey, Bhupendra Asthana, Dheeraj Yadav and Ratnapriya Kant.

Art teachers, Girish Pandey and Bhupendra Asthana talked about the paper mess and said, "the literal meaning of paper mess is the pulp made by mashing soaked paper. The waste paper is soaked, crushed and mixed according to the quantity of chalk powder glued together with natural gum or water-soluble gum. After drying this medium becomes very light in weight. After that different colours can be used on it. It can also be applied to walls as an interior decoration of houses. The teachers and students of the FOAKTU institution make strenuous efforts to bring out new artistic experiments in various mediums, the latest being paper messy mask making.
